Automatic Withdrawal Terms and Instructions for Retirement Accounts

Use this online enrollment to set up an automatic withdrawal plan for your Minimum Required Distribution (MRD), Life Expectancy distributions (LE), Earnings distributions, or Fixed Amount distributions from your Fidelity IRA account(s). If you have an existing automatic withdrawal plan with Fidelity, you may use this to establish additional plans, to make changes to your existing automatic withdrawal plan or to deactivate your plan. Certain automatic withdrawal plans can be requested for Traditional IRAs, Rollover IRAs, SEP-IRAs, SIMPLE IRAs, Roth IRAs, Inherited IRAs and Inherited Roth IRAs registered under your Social Security number. Because of unique withholding requirements, automatic withdrawal plans are not available to nonresident aliens. This online enrollment does not allow set up of an automatic withdrawal plan Fidelity Retirement Plan accounts, also known as Keogh accounts, workplace savings accounts such as 401(k)s, 403(b)s, or annuities. Certain non-retirement automatic withdrawal plans may be established within the automatic withdrawals tool but are subject to the non-retirement account Terms and Instruction document. For existing automatic withdrawal plans for Fidelity Retirement Plan accounts, or most non-retirement accounts, you will be able to view details of those automatic withdrawal plans but will not be able to make changes or deactivate those plans online.

Fidelity cannot accept responsibility if we are unable to make your scheduled distribution based on the instructions you provide, due to insufficient funds in your account. When you withdraw the entire balance from your IRA, a closeout fee may apply. Back-end loads, redemption fees or transaction fees may also apply to mutual fund distributions. Please refer to the Fidelity Brokerage Commission and Fee Schedule and the fund's prospectus for details.

For Minimum Required Distribution (MRD) and Life Expectancy (LE) Plans; Important information regarding your MRD. Using this online enrollment form on or after December 15 for current year MRD, or on or after March 15 for prior year MRD is restricted. This restriction exists to allow for adequate time for processing. Fidelity cannot assume responsibility for making your distribution by the April 1 IRS deadline for your initial MRD for traditional IRA or the December 31 deadline for subsequent-year MRDs or for MRDs for Inherited IRAs. It is your responsibility to ensure that your distributions satisfy IRS requirements. Please consult a tax advisor to ensure that your distributions will meet the requirements. Failure to satisfy your MRD requirements may result in an IRS penalty of up to 50% of the difference between the MRD amount you should have taken and the amount actually withdrawn.

Traditional IRAs
IRS regulations specify that MRD calculations are generally based upon the Uniform Lifetime Table (which uses your age to determine the number of years and amount of your distribution). For reference, this table is linked to within the online application and is also available on Fidelity.com or IRS.gov websites. The calculation is based on the market value of the assets in your Fidelity IRA account(s) as of last December 31, and includes any adjustments you have made for recharacterized, transferred or rolled over IRA assets to Fidelity last year that were pending and not included in last year’s December 31 market value if you enter those amounts in the appropriate section of the online enrollment.

Fidelity will calculate your MRD using all of your Fidelity Traditional IRA accounts (not including Roth IRAs or Inherited IRA) held under your Social Security number, unless you choose to not include those accounts in the calculation during online enrollment. If you maintain IRAs at other financial institutions, you must calculate your MRD for your non-Fidelity Traditional IRA accounts separately. MRDs for Inherited IRAs must be calculated separately.

Inherited IRAs
You are generally required to take MRDs each year from your Inherited IRA or Inherited Roth IRA. The rules are different for spouses and non-spouse inheritors.
IRS regulations specify the MRDs for spouse inheritors are generally based upon the Single Life Expectancy Table. The timing of these distributions may be based on your spouse’s age at the time of death. For reference, this table is linked to within the online application and is also available at Fidelity.com or IRS.gov websites. The calculation is based on the market value of the assets in your Fidelity Inherited IRA account(s) as of last December 31, and includes any adjustments you have made for transferred or rolled over IRA assets to Fidelity last year that were pending and not included in last year’s December 31 market value if you enter those amounts in the appropriate section of the online enrollment.

For non-spouse inheritors your MRD will also generally be based on your own life expectancy using the Single Life Expectancy table.

For Life Expectancy (LE) plans
LE calculations are available for traditional IRAs and generally based upon the Uniform Lifetime Table (which uses your age to determine the number of years and amount of your distribution). The calculation is based on the market value of the assets in your Fidelity IRA account(s) as of last December 31, and includes any adjustments you have made for recharacterized, transferred or rolled over IRA assets to Fidelity last year that were pending and not included in last year’s December 31 market value if you enter those amounts in the appropriate section of the online enrollment. Fidelity will calculate your LE amount using all of your Fidelity IRA accounts (not including Roth IRAs or IRA-BDAs) held under your Social Security number, unless you choose to not include those accounts in the calculation during online enrollment. IRAs you maintain at other financial institutions are not included.

If you have any pending year-end rollovers or transfers, please check the answers in the Make Adjustments section in the online enrollment, and input the market value for last year’s December 31 outstanding rollover, transfer, or, if applicable, recharacterized contribution. If you deferred your first-year MRD payment last year also provide the December 31 market value of these items from two years ago. If you deferred your first-year MRD payment and that account was held at Fidelity, your December 31 market value of two years ago will be presented. Please validate and include any outstanding rollovers, transfers or recharacterizations.

The December 31 market value of each of your IRAs should be adjusted for any pending year-end transfers or rollovers. For example, if assets were withdrawn from an IRA or qualified employer-sponsored plan within the last 60 days of the prior calendar year, and a portion or all of those assets were rolled over to a Fidelity IRA this year, you must add the amount of the rollover to the balance of your Fidelity IRA as of December 31 of the prior year. This may also apply to year end transfers not credited to your account until after December 31 unless the MRD attributable to the amount transferred was distributed from another IRA.

For LE Plans, the same treatment applies except that no deferral treatment is required as distributions are not mandatory.

Spousal Exception: For traditional IRAs, Fidelity uses the existing beneficiary information on file for your accounts. If your current beneficiary information indicates that your sole and primary beneficiary is your spouse and your spouse’s date of birth on file at Fidelity indicates that spouse is more than ten years younger than you, then Fidelity will use the Spousal Exception Joint Life Expectancy table from the IRS to calculate your MRD. Check the MRD calculations details on your specific account to determine if Fidelity is using the Spousal Exception Joint Life Expectancy Table for the correct accounts if applicable. This table is also linked to within the Minimum Required Distribution Calculation Estimate and available on Fidelity.com for reference purposes. If the Spousal Exception Joint Life Expectancy Table is not shown on the MRD Calculation Estimate, your MRD calculation will be based on the Uniform Lifetime Table for the current year. Each account included in this automatic withdrawal is calculated using the applicable table for that account, then all the MRDs for each account will be aggregated together. At the beginning of each subsequent year, Fidelity will make a determination if the spousal exception applies based on your beneficiary designations at the beginning of the year, and, if applicable, use the Spousal Exception Joint Life Expectancy Table for that year’s MRD calculation. Under IRS Rules, use of the Spousal Exception Joint Life Expectancy Table is limited to marriages recognized under federal law. For LE Plans, the same treatment applies to using the Spousal Exception table to calculate your LE amount.

Important: Keep your Beneficiary Information current to ensure proper calculations are performed. Fidelity will not automatically update your MRD withdrawal plan until January of the year following the year in which you make the beneficiary change. Because of this, it may be necessary for you to take an additional withdrawal to satisfy your MRD amount in the year of the beneficiary change to avoid a possible penalty tax. Please consult your tax advisor to determine how a beneficiary change may affect your individual situation. You can review your current beneficiary designation by logging on to Fidelity.com and looking under Your Profile/Beneficiaries, by checking Form 5498 that is mailed to you each February, or by calling a Fidelity Representative at 1-800-544-4774.

For LE Plans, the same treatment applies to keeping your beneficiary information updated as it is used to calculate your LE amount.

A Revised Account Profile will be sent to you upon establishment of this automatic withdrawal plan and in January of each year thereafter confirming the MRD or LE amount to be distributed under the plan for that year. If the Spousal Exception is applied, the Account Profile will state the name of your spouse beneficiary.

Notes about Payments:
If you are establishing your automatic withdrawal plan mid-year, your entire MRD or LE distribution for the current year will be paid out evenly over the remaining number of scheduled payments in the year, minus any adjustments you have included in the Make Adjustments section of the tool.

Deferral of First-Year MRD – For traditional IRAs, when you turn 70½, you have the option of deferring your first MRD until the following year between January 1 and April 1.

- If you turned 70½ this year and you wish to defer your first-year MRD until next year (between January 1 and April 1), select the button that indicates you wish to take your first distribution in the next year in the Make Adjustments section. The prior year distributions will then be made by April 1 of the next year, provided there are sufficient funds in your Fidelity IRA.
- If you turned 70½ last year and need to take your first MRD amount by April 1 of this year, select the button that indicates you wish to have your first-year MRD distribution made in the current year in the Make Adjustments section. This option is only available online between January 1st and March 15th. After March 15th, any such requests must be called in to a Fidelity Representative at 1-800-FIDELITY.

If you elect to defer your first year MRD, the second-year payments will commence on the date of the first-year MRD payment, and your entire MRD distribution for the second year will be paid out evenly over the remaining number of scheduled payments in the second year. Payments will then be made as requested in the Schedule Withdrawals section in subsequent years.

For LE Plans, there is no deferral of first year distributions as none are required generally until you are age 70 ½.

For Inherited IRAs, spouse inheritors, the timing to begin MRDs depends on the age of your spouse at the time of death. If younger than 70 ½ you can delay MRDs until your spouse would have turned 70 ½ (if you are the sole beneficiary of the account). If older than 70 ½ you must begin taking MRDs by December 31st of the year following your spouse’s death. Non-spouse inheritors must begin taking MRDs by December 31st of the year following the IRA owner’s death.

Note: Withdrawals from any Fidelity IRA that are scheduled to be paid out in January may result in your payment being processed later than the date selected due to the recalculation of your annual MRD amount at the beginning of the year.

Note: Withdrawals from any Fidelity IRA that are scheduled to be paid out in December may result in your payment being processed prior to the date selected to help ensure that your withdrawal is processed prior to year-end.

Note: When specifying from which accounts to fund your withdrawal, be aware that only those accounts that are included in the Calculation specified in Select Accounts section can be included in the funding of withdrawals section.

In the Funding Withdrawals section:
This section does not apply to Earnings plans.

Proportional option
For proportional withdrawals, liquidations will be taken from all eligible mutual fund positions including money markets, based on the accounts you have selected in question 2 in that section. Eligible mutual funds include all Fidelity funds that are available to Retail customers and also funds available through Fidelity FundsNetwork® where the mutual fund company has agreed to make the fund available for distributions through a systematic withdrawal plan.

Note for Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Services (PAS) account holders – If any of your IRAs are in accounts managed by PAS:
- For each withdrawal, PAS will make every effort to maintain the appropriate asset allocation of your PAS account.
- In order to use proportional withdrawals for PAS accounts, you must also include at least one other non-PAS account in the proportional calculation.

Example of Proportional Calculation: If you have two IRA accounts at Fidelity and you select to include both in the withdrawals, withdrawals from both of these accounts will be proportioned based on the value of the eligible fund positions including the core fund held by each account.

Fixed Percentage option
Choose this option if you wish to make withdrawals by liquidating the specified fixed percent from your Fidelity IRA account number(s) and mutual fund position(s) provided in this section. Select the fund name and percentage for each position indicated. The automatic withdrawal will sell the amount requested from the funds specified and then, if necessary, attempt to fund the remaining distribution amount from the core position. If the plan includes a PAS account, the process will attempt to fund any remaining distribution amount from the PAS account request.

Secondary Withdrawal Instructions
If you choose to take withdrawals using Fixed Percentage option, then you will need to select Secondary Withdrawal Instructions. These instructions will be used if there are insufficient funds in the positions designated in your primary withdrawal instructions. There are two options to choose from for how the distribution should then occur. The two options are:
- Withdraw from any eligible money market, bond fund or equity fund position, or
- Withdraw from money market funds only

Note: Choosing the “Withdraw from money market funds only” option may result in the full distribution not being made

Secondary Withdrawal instructions default to “Withdraw from any eligible money market, bond fund or equity fund position”
The automatic withdrawals will execute the secondary instructions in the following order, based on type of account(s) specified for the plan: mutual fund accounts first, then brokerage accounts, then accounts managed by Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Services (PAS). The plan will attempt to fund up to the remaining distribution amount from the core position. If the plan includes PAS account(s), the process will attempt to fund any remaining distribution amount from the PAS account without regard to the PAS account’s core fund balance. Accounts not managed by Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Services are subject to the rules specified in “Withdraw from any eligible money market, bond fund or equity fund position” option.

Withdraw from any eligible money market, bond fund or equity fund position. You are instructing us to attempt to make the distribution by making funds available through the liquidation of money market fund positions in the same IRA(s), beginning with the money market fund position with the lowest balance. If sufficient funds are not available from money market positions, you are instructing us to attempt to make the distribution by making funds available through the liquidation of bond or equity fund positions in the same IRA, beginning with the bond or equity fund positions with the lowest balance. If two eligible positions have identical balances, we will liquidate the fund with the lowest CUSIP.

Withdraw from money market funds only. You are instructing us to attempt to make the distribution by making funds available through the liquidation of money market fund positions in the same IRA(s), beginning with the money market fund position with the lowest balance. If two eligible positions have identical balances, we will liquidate the fund with the lowest CUSIP.

Note: Choosing this option may result in the full distribution not being made.

CUSIP numbers (along with symbols) are assigned by the Committee on Uniform Securities Identification Procedures to all securities, and are used for identification when recording buy and sell orders.

Note: Certain Fidelity mutual funds have been closed to new investors. If one of these funds is subject to your withdrawal instructions, be aware that your position could be fully liquidated, and this may prohibit you from future investments in the fund.

For Earnings Plans:
Earnings plans generate a distribution only when your account has received a dividend, interest or capital gain from one or more of your holdings and if you have those earnings directed to your core position or to be distributed. Most customers have their Reinvestment Instructions set during the account opening process. And often those holdings are set to reinvest in the security. During the enrollment process you were presented with the opportunity to update Reinvestment Instructions to have all positions pay to core position or be distributed for Mutual Fund only accounts. If no positions in your account are set to deposit to the core position or not to reinvest in the security or mutual fund, then your earnings plan will not distribute any earnings. You can update the Reinvestment instructions by going to Fidelity.com/dividends. You will need to log in and make changes to the positions in your account that you select to have distribute the earnings.

The schedule for Earnings plans depends on what type of account you hold at Fidelity. If you account is a Mutual Fund only IRA, then your plan must have daily schedule for distribution of earnings. If you account is a brokerage account and has a core position, then your earnings can be held in the core position pending the schedule you select when the account will distribute the earnings. The schedule ranges from Daily to Annually or a customized schedule allowing for up to three days per month specifically chosen by you for the months you chose. You may make changes to your schedule by editing your automatic withdrawal plan.
For Brokerage IRAs, Fidelity will deposit to your core position any dividends and capital gains you have selected to send to core as they are paid out by the holdings. The PWS system will keep a running tally of the earnings deposited to the core position that will be distributed on the schedule you have selected. Using that schedule, Fidelity will make the distributions. Until that distribution date, the deposited earnings will be held in your core position. Then on the day of your distribution, Fidelity will distribute the amount, and clear the tally and begin to tally again for any future earnings distributions. If you request additional distributions from that account outside of the automatic withdrawal process, those distributions will affect what is remaining in your earnings tally for your scheduled distributions.

For Fixed Amount Plans:
Fixed amount plans generate a specified distribution amount you select, based on the schedule you select. The schedule ranges from Monthly to Annually or a customized schedule allowing for a specific day chosen by you for the months you choose. You may make changes to your schedule by editing your automatic withdrawal plan.

For all plans:
Withdrawal Destination:
In this section you chose one of up to three options for receiving your withdrawal payments.

A. Direct deposit into your nonretirement Fidelity Brokerage or Fidelity Funds account. (If you do not have a Fidelity non-retirement account, one can be established today at Fidelity.com, or call us at 1-800-544-4774 to obtain an application.) You will need that account number to appear online for this option to be chosen. You can return at a later date and change your withdrawal destination if you open a non-retirement account in the future. The usual account minimum requirement is waived if your account is funded through an automatic withdrawal plan. Distributions to a Fidelity Brokerage account are invested into your core account. If you have a Fidelity Mutual Fund account, please specify the fund you wish to invest your distribution into on the line provided.

B. By check to your address of record. If you wish to establish distributions to an alternate address, you must complete a form and a signature guarantee is required for this option. Please contact Fidelity at 1-800-FIDELITY for this information. If the distribution amount is less than $25.00 your distribution by check may be delayed until the amount reaches $25.00.

C. Deposited electronically into your bank or credit union account using Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT). This option is available only for existing bank or EFT instructions. You may change your automatic withdrawal instructions in the future if you add bank or EFT instructions. Allow at least 10 days for EFT to become active. Once established, allow 2–3 days for funds to reach your bank or credit union. The recipient institution must be a member of the Automated Clearing House. You can establish bank or EFT instructions online at Fidelity.com. (HYPERLINK) http://personal.fidelity.com/products/checking/content/eft.shtml

Fidelity does not charge for using EFT services. The maximum amount that may be sent via EFT is $100,000 per distribution. Complete the requested information to establish EFT or to confirm existing EFT instructions. If you are unsure of any of the information, please verify with your bank or credit union.

Note: If you select Option A or C and the transaction cannot be completed using this Payment Method, the system will default to sending a check to the address of record.

Note: For plans that are calculated such as MRD and LE plans, when specifying from which accounts to fund your withdrawal, be aware that only those accounts that are included in the calculation specified in Select Accounts section can be included in the funding of withdrawals. If this request for MRDs only includes distributions from a Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Services account, you can only choose Fixed Percentage with 100% funding from the PAS account.
Eligible Accounts: certain accounts are not eligible for automatic withdrawals and will not be presented within the enrollment process.

Your Automatic Withdrawals: this list includes current active automatic withdrawal plans you have at Fidelity. Some are not eligible for online enrollment or maintenance such as plans for some non-retirement accounts and Fidelity Retirement Plan accounts.

Save & Return - Your entries will be saved for 30 days. If you do not complete enrollment of this automatic withdrawal plan before then, the information will be deleted.

Federal Tax Withholding
IRS regulations require Fidelity to withhold federal income tax at a rate of 10% from your total IRA distribution (excluding Roth IRA distributions). This applies even if you have made nondeductible contributions to your IRA and may result in excess taxes taken from your distribution. You may elect not to have federal withholding apply (provided are a U.S. person, including a resident alien individual), or you may elect to increase the rate of withholding.

State Tax Withholding
If federal income tax withholding is applied to your distribution, state income tax may also apply. The state income tax withholding requirements your distribution will be subject to (if any) are determined by the legal address of record on your Fidelity IRA. Please review the state tax information during online enrollment or see the information for your specific state below. If a minimum state tax applies, Fidelity will withhold taxes at the greater of the minimum state tax or the amount you specify. You may request information about state tax withholding by calling Fidelity at 800-FIDELITY.

Whether or not you elect to have federal or state taxes withheld from your distribution, you are responsible for the full payment of federal income tax, any state or local taxes, and any penalties which may apply. You may be responsible for estimated tax payments and could incur penalties if your estimated tax payments are not sufficient. Your election will remain in effect on periodic distributions taken under this automatic withdrawal from your Fidelity IRA account(s) until revoked by you. You can revoke this election for future distributions at any time by phone, written request, or online.

State Tax Withholding — IRA Withdrawals

Helpful to Know
- Each state sets its own withholding rates and requirements on taxable distributions. We apply those rates unless you direct us not to (where permitted) or you request a higher rate.
- Your account’s legal/residential address determines which state’s tax rules apply.
- You are responsible for paying your federal, state, and local income taxes and any penalties, including penalties for insufficient withholding.
- Withholding taxes for Roth IRA distributions is optional.

| AR, IA, KS, MA, ME, OK, VT | • If you choose federal withholding, you will also get state withholding at your state’s minimum withholding rate or an amount greater as specified by you.
  • If you do NOT choose federal withholding, state withholding is voluntary.
  • If you have state withholding, you can request a higher rate than your state’s minimum but not a lower rate, except on Roth IRA distributions. |
| CA, NC, OR | • If you choose federal withholding, you will also get state withholding at your state’s minimum withholding rate unless you request otherwise.
  • If you do NOT choose federal withholding, state withholding is voluntary.
  • If you have state withholding, you can request a higher rate than your state’s minimum but not a lower rate, except on Roth IRA distributions. |
| DE | • If you choose federal withholding, you will also get state withholding at your state’s minimum withholding rate unless you request otherwise.
  • If you do NOT choose federal withholding, state withholding will occur unless you request otherwise.
  • If you have state withholding, you can request a higher rate than your state’s minimum but not a lower rate, except on Roth IRA distributions. |
| DC | • If you are taking distribution of your entire account balance and not directly rolling that amount over to another eligible retirement account, DC requires that a minimum amount be withheld from the taxable portion of the distribution, whether or not federal income tax is withheld. In that case, you must elect to have the minimum DC income tax amount withheld by completing the Tax Withholding section.
  • If your entire distribution amount has already been taxed (for instance only after tax or nondeductible contributions were made and you have no pretax earnings), you may be eligible to elect any of the withholding options.
  • If you wish to take a distribution of both taxable and nontaxable amounts, you must complete a separate distribution request form for each and complete the Tax Withholding section of the forms, as appropriate. |
| MI | • MI generally requires state income tax of at least your state’s minimum requirements regardless of whether or not federal income tax is withheld.
  • Tax withholding is not required if you meet certain MI requirements governing pension and retirement benefits. Please reference the MI W-4P Form for additional information about calculating the amount to withhold from your distribution.
  • Contact your tax advisor or investment representative for additional information about MI requirements. |
| All other states | • State tax withholding is voluntary and you can choose the rate you want (any whole number between 1% and 99%). |
